

BERKELEY CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF RELIGION

VOTING THE DIVINE SERIES

As part of BCSR's Democracy and Public Theology Program, the Voting the Divine Series is a sequence of public lectures and seminars that examines theological contexts and motives of voting and deliberation in premodern societies. The series addresses the relationship between voting as the signal marker of democracy, and the rituals and theologies of both monotheist and polytheist societies. This series focuses on democracy as a central feature of religious life.

NOVEMBER

Republican Religion in Republican Rome?

Clifford Ando,
University of Chicago

FEBRUARY

Through the Looking Glass: Perspectives on the Interaction Between "Politics" and "Religion" in Ancient Greece

Josine Blok,
Utrecht University, NL

APRIL

Consensus and Early Islamic Law

Asad Ahmed,
UC Berkeley

APRIL

Voting from the Rooftops: Religion and Politics in Mughal India

Abishek Kaicker,
UC Berkeley

The Berkeley Center for the Study of Religion (BCSR) advances creative and critical scholarship on religion. Learn more at bcsr.berkeley.edu

The Berkeley Democracy and Public Theology Program is generously supported by the Henry Luce Foundation